Our County Executive

Third generation Westchester native, George Latimer, is our very own County Executive hailing from Mt. Vernon where he attended the public schools and then went on to Fordham University and New York University for his college and graduate school education in preparation for becoming a professional marketing executive.

George, now a resident of Rye, has served as the first Democratic Chair of the Westchester County Board of Legislators from 1998-2001. He was elected in 2004 to the N.Y. State Assembly where he achieved significant legislative accomplishment by sponsoring and advancing funding for environmental issues, housing, transportation, healthcare and lower property taxes. He is the author of over 20 new laws.

George's sound business experience, his record of public service and his dedication to our county community has been the driving force behind his efforts for the last 25 year in both the public and private sectors. He has always fought for what Westchester neighbors and residents need. He was routinely cited as the most accessible of representatives especially during his years of service as a State Senator representing the 37th N.Y.State District.

George is a leader who gets things done. Plainspoken and always attentive to the needs of individual citizens of our county he has effectively governed utilizing his business, governmental and most importantly "people skills" to make us comfortable with him and trusting of the government he leads.

George, an honorable man of his word, commands the respect of us all - a respect earned by truly caring for us as individuals in a free society.
